Descrizione

L'intento programmatico di The Italian Law Journal è quello di diffondere lo studio e promuovere l'analisi della cultura giuridica italiana, incoraggiando il dibattito accademico internazionale fra studiosi di diversa tradizione, in particolare nel campo del diritto privato. La rivista esamina i temi della teoria del diritto, del diritto europeo, del diritto comparato e internazionale al fine di riconsiderare l'identità costituzionale del diritto italiano e delle sue istituzioni. Lo scopo è quello di divulgare e accrescere la conoscenza del patrimonio giuridico italiano presso la comunità internazionale.

The aim of The Italian Law Journal is to spread the study and to promote the criticism of Italian legal culture, fostering international academic debate among scholars of different traditions, particularly with regard to private law.

The journal focuses on themes of legal theory, European law, comparative and international law, in order to reconsider the constitutional identity of Italian law and its institutions. It aims to disseminate knowledge and enhance awareness of the Italian legal heritage throughout the international community.
